DETAILED ACTION

Election/Restrictions

Applicant's election of the species of figures 2A and 2B, without traverse, is acknowledged. Claim 18 therefore stands withdrawn from further consideration as being drawn to a non-elected species.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 112

The following is a quotation of the second paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall conclude with one or more claims particularly pointing out and distinctly claiming the subject matter which the applicant regards as his invention.

Claims 14 to 17 and 19 to 21 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, second paragraph, as being indefinite for failing to particularly point out and distinctly claim the subject matter which applicant regards as the invention.

Claims 14 to 17, 20 and 21 are incomplete because they are dependent on a canceled claim. In the art rejections which follow, the claims which are dependent on claim 1 are presumed to have been intended to be dependent on claim 13.

In claim 14, line 2, and claim 19, line 9, stating that the "means for axially locking the shaft interacts [emphasis added] with bearing elements of the shaft" does not clearly set forth the structural relationship between the means and the bearing elements.

In claim 19, line 9, stating that the "means is connected to the shaft in such a way that it interacts [emphasis added] with bearing elements of the shaft" does not clearly set forth the structural relationship between the means and the bearing elements.

Art Unit: 3746

In claim 19, line 9, the “bearing elements” appear to be a double inclusion of the “bearings” in line 4.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

(e) the invention was described in (1) an application for patent, published under section 122(b), by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent or (2) a patent granted on an application for patent by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent, except that an international application filed under the treaty defined in section 351(a) shall have the effects for purposes of this subsection of an application filed in the United States only if the international application designated the United States and was published under Article 21(2) of such treaty in the English language.

Claims 13 to 17 and 21 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Romeo (US 4,969,805). See figures 6 and 7 which show grooves 44 and 58 and a locking ring 42 for axially locking the shaft 14.

Claims 13, 14, 15 and 19 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(e) as being anticipated by Tombers et al (US 6,499,969). See thrust reaction surfaces 58 and 60 on the shaft for axially locking the shaft (see figure 2). The thrust reaction surfaces 58 and 60 interact with bearings on the shaft as shown in figure 1.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

Art Unit: 3746

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

Claim 21 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Romeo. Whether the locking ring 42 is enclosed in the grooves 44 and 58 with or without clearance is deemed to be a matter of design choice. For example, providing a clearance would reduce the friction on the locking ring but at the expense of not maintaining the shaft at an exact axial position.
